WITHDRAWAL POLICY:

Prior to Class 1: Students who withdraw from the program up 30 days prior to the start of Class 1 will receive a full refund, less a $25 administrative fee. For withdrawals between 14 days to the start of Class 1, $100 will not be refunded.

For withdrawals that occur from Class 2 forward: If you withdraw from the program within 30 days before the start of that class, you will receive a full refund minus $25 of any monies you have paid toward that particular class. If you just miss a class, but intend on completing the one-year program, you are still responsible for the full tuition for the class missed. Your tuition will still give you access to the teacher for questions on the material as well as handouts and continued participation in the Eden Energy Medicine Foundations Program. A private tutorial day with the teacher to review the information from the missed class will be arranged if desired at no extra cost.

Withdrawals must be received in writing or by email (kathy@easystreet.net) and will be promptly acknowledged once received.

MISSED CLASS POLICY

It is the student's responsibility to make up any work and instruction they miss if they fail to attend any of the four classes in the EEM Foundations Program. Every effort will be made to work with you, including options such as private tutorials. Students may also watch a DVD of a CP class filmed in Phoenix. The purchase of the DVD is done through Innersource. You could also attend that class at another Foundations Program location.

STUDENT RELEASE AGREEMENT

I understand that Eden Energy Medicine is an innovative approach to health care, which is only beginning to be investigated scientifically. I further understand that the training in Eden Energy Medicine and other services I am or may be receiving from Kathy Chambers and the Portland EEM Foundations Program/ Innersource do not substitute for diagnosis and/or treatment from a qualified health practitioner for illnesses, injuries, or other medical conditions.

I understand that some classes are videotaped, that these tapes may be distributed for educational purposes, and I give my permission for my participation to appear on these tapes.

Kathy Chambers and the Portland EEM Foundations Program/ Innersource reserves the right, at its discretion and without explanation, to ask a student to leave an Eden Energy Medicine Certification Program class, to terminate a student from the EEM Certification Program, or to not graduate a student from the EEM Certification Program based on failure to meet the academic, behavioral, professional, or ethical standards of the program as determined by Innersource staff. Any refunds will be fairly determined, again at the discretion of Innersource staff, on a case-by-case basis.

I also understand that any activity in which a person might participate involves some risk. In consideration of being permitted to enroll for the instructional and other services offered through Kathy Chambers and the Portland EEM Foundations Program/Innersource, I release and hold Kathy Chambers and the Portland EEM Foundations Program/Innersource, its agents, officers, employees, directors, successors, and affiliated corporations harmless from any claims arising out of my participation in the instructional or other services offered by Kathy Chambers and the Portland EEM Foundations Program/ Innersource.

An Introduction to Ethics in Eden Energy Medicine

A strong ethical framework is woven into the teaching of Eden Energy Medicine. Ethics are the principles adopted by practitioners within a field to translate the desire to serve into the profession's evolving wisdom about how best to serve. They are far more than a list of rules that will restrict you or requirements that should put fear in your hearts.

Rather, health care ethics guide members of a healing discipline on the lessons gleaned from the experiences of those who came before them about:

1. How to create and maintain a vital interpersonal context for providing healing services, and
2. How best to navigate through the various types of challenges that may arise when providing those services.

Along with 1) developing strong professional competence and 2) taking robust care of your own health and well-being, 3) embracing sound ethical practices is the third pillar for being able to provide outstanding health care services.

Ethical standards include:

- the highest ethical ideals of a profession, serving to ennoble and inspire practitioners, as well as
- enforceable obligations regarding acceptable practice.

Your understanding of the ethical standards of EEM will inform all of your professional activities and it includes specific responsibilities to your clients. You are free to choose who you admit as a client. Once you accept a person as a client, however, you have a duty to provide appropriate health care services or, when you cannot, to offer appropriate referrals to insure the best possible health care services. The EEM ethical guidelines will help you make these choices. Learning these guidelines will be a vital part of your EEM training. Lack of awareness or understanding of a stated ethical standard is not itself a valid defense against a charge of unethical conduct. Your ethics training will be both in class and in homework assignments outside of class. The textbook we use is the Ethics Handbook for Energy Healing Practitioners. Please study this book according to the following schedule:

Introductory Material

The Chapter entitled: "Ethical Dilemmas You May Face"

Before Class 3:

First 30 Ethical Vignettes

Before Class 4:

Remaining 20 Ethical Vignettes

Remainder of the Book

By the end of Class 4, you should be well-versed in the basic EEM ethical guidelines. Before you begin Class 1 of the CP or the Foundations Program, we ask that you read, print, and sign the following to indicate your willingness to adhere to the EEM Ethics Code and procedures and bring it to your first class.

Highlights from The Ethics Code for Energy Healing Practitioners

Eden Energy Medicine practitioners ...

- 1...hold as the highest priority for their professional activities the health and welfare of their clients, students, and others with whom they become professionally involved. All other statements in this document are elaborations upon this principle.
- 2...are fully committed to personal integrity, authenticity, and their own ongoing healing and wholesome development in body, mind, and spirit.
- 3...strive for professional excellence through ongoing assessment of personal strengths, limitations, and effectiveness.
- 4...conduct business and professional activities with integrity, in a professional, honest, and fair manner.
- 5...abide by applicable local, state, and national laws governing their health care services.
- 6...perform only those services for which they are qualified, representing their education, certifications, professional affiliations, and other qualifications accurately.
- 7...keep themselves current in their field and continually seek to expand their effectiveness as practitioners.
- 8...do not diagnose, prescribe, or treat medical disorders unless simultaneously credentialed to do so, making referrals to other health care professionals when and as appropriate.
- 9...respect the inherent worth, dignity, and uniqueness of all people, and the rights of individuals to privacy, confidentiality, and self-determination.
- 10...treat clients, students, and colleagues with respect and courtesy, communicating clearly and sensitively regarding issues that affect the services they provide.
- 11...respect the professional status of other health care practitioners.
- 12...resist gossip, but rather speak directly with other energy healing practitioners when concerns about their actions arise, making every effort to resolve differences or ethical issues in a frank, respectful, and wholesome manner.
- 13... clearly and accurately inform prospective clients of the nature and logistics of their potential services prior to the commencement of those services, appropriately documenting having done so.
- 14...discuss with their clients in advance the limitations or potential problems associated with specific procedures before using them.
- 15...uphold the confidentiality of those they serve, informing clients in advance of exceptions, such as legal proceedings that require disclosure and the obligation to disclose information that might prevent clear and imminent danger to the client or to others.
- 16...build a collaborative relationship with those they serve.
- 17...stay alert to factors that might impact the healing relationship, such as a client's becoming overly dependent or being unable to pay for continued services, and generate, with the client, appropriate strategies for addressing such considerations.

- 18...avoid dual relationships that might negatively impact the effectiveness of their services.
  - 19...are aware of the power differences inherent in the professional relationship and do not exploit them.
  - 20... never enter a sexual relationship with a client.
  - 21...are sensitive to the potential impact of having a special facility with subtle energies and use this facility only in a manner that is beneficial to the client and with the client's consent.
  - 22... actively support their own health and resilience so they are at their best as a practitioner and are modeling what they teach.
  - 23...keep written records as appropriate to their professional function and setting.
  - 24... seek to promote accuracy, honesty, truthfulness, and dignity in the practice, teaching, science, and art of energy healing.
  - 25... clarify professional roles and obligations with clients and colleagues and manage conflicts of interest in a manner that avoids exploitation or harm.
  - 26... keep their agreements and avoid unrealistic or unclear commitments.
  - 27...who offer educational programs or presentations ensure that the goals of the program have been properly described, are appropriate for the intended audience, and that the program is run in a manner that accomplishes its stated goals.
  - 28...who offer educational programs or presentations create a safe and supportive learning environment, prioritizing the welfare of students who participate in training exercises or who volunteer for demonstrations.
  - 29... who offer educational programs take steps to ensure that graduates of their programs represent the training received appropriately and with an understanding of the limitations as well as the potentials of the skills they have developed.
  - 30...contribute a portion of their professional time for little or no compensation.
  - 31...demonstrate a personal commitment to acting ethically; to encouraging ethical behavior by students, supervisees, employees, and colleagues; and to consulting as appropriate with others and with their professional association's code of ethics concerning ethical problems.
- I will promote an awareness of ethics within the health care community and attest to my willingness to adhere to the full Ethics Code for Energy Healing Practitioners and its updates as posted at www.EnergyMedicineEthics.com.*
